- The higher the performance of the mask with regard to barrier efficiency the better.
- Masks must be breathable.
- Should the mask prevent one from breathing easily, this will present a serious danger to the health of the wearer - not only from becoming oxygen deprived but also because the mask will promote risky behavior like the need to touch the face and remove or adjust the mask during wear, increasing the risk of transmission of the virus.
- Masks must be designed to fit properly and be comfortable to wear.
- Mask style and design features will contribute to user fit which should follow closely the contours of the face especially around the nose bridge and under the chin to reduce leakage out and into the mask.
- Mask style and design features will contribute to user fit which should follow closely the contours of the face especially around the nose bridge and under the chin to reduce leakage out and into the mask.
- Cleaning and disinfection of all the components should be easy to carry out at home.
- All components should be durable and should maintain their integrity during the full expected life span of the product or components.
- All masks should be accompanied by instructions clearly explaining how it should be worn and cared for what the limitations of a mask are and when the mask or its components must be replaced.

Fabric Selection for Fabric Masks

- Tests have shown that at least two layers of fabric is sufficient for balancing performance and comfort (as indicated above).
- An increase in the number of layers will improve the barrier efficiency, but have the opposite effect on breathability.
- Using three layers, selecting a non-woven (or similar) fabric with strong filtering capability (barrier efficiency) as the middle layer (with the accompanying inner and outer layers providing comfort, structure, and some additional protection) is recommended.
- Ideally this middle layer (filter) should be inserted into the mask (or removed) via an 'envelope' style design to allow for improved cleaning and easy replacement filters when worn out. It is recommended that the pocket into which it fits be at least 120 mm by 100 mm to ensure compatibility between multiple masks and filters in production domestically.
- Clear markings or design options must be used to distinguish between the outside of the mask and the inside of the mask.

Guidelines for Fabric Selection

Inner Layer (next to face)

- The main purpose of this layer is to provide a smooth, soft, pleasant feel against the skin.
- The fabric should not irritate the skin in any way or allow the build-up of moisture or excessive heat in between the skin and the mask.
- Avoid water repellent fabric that inhibit the absorption of droplets. It must not wet easily or accumulate excessive moisture with breathing.
- The fabric should have very high air permeability and should not restrict normal breathing.
- Synthetic fibres are recommended for quick drying properties.

- One component with poor air permeability can cause a total failure in breathability
- NOTE: If a filter layer is not used, the combination of the two layers must provide a 5 micron particle barrier efficiency of at least 75%.

Designs for Fabric Masks

- Mask style and design features will contribute to user fit and should follow closely the contours of the face especially around the nose bridge and under the chin to reduce leakage out and into the mask.
- A wire insert, in middle of the mask that sits over the nose bridge area of mask, will allow the user to mould the shape of the mask around the nose bridge for a closer fit.
- Comfortable elastic bands/or cloth tie-straps of adequate size and shape for attachment either around the ears or the head should facilitate comfortable fit.
- Further adjustments to the dimension of this elastic/cloth tie-straps will enhance fit for more users permitting flexibility in the adjustment.
- The ties or elastics used to fit the mask to the face should not be designed to require that the wearer touches the front of the mask at all.
- Masks should be comfortable to wear. Fabrics selection should consider performance properties such as moisture management and thermal discomfort (guideline for fabric selection 4.1 above).
- Discomfort will undermine one's health by promoting the need to touch the face and remove or adjust the mask during wear.
- Bearing in mind that different fabric constructions and innovations allow for different properties and functions, there is merit in a mask designed from at least two layers of 9 suitable fabric or three layers of such fabric (two layers plus an extra third barrier/filtration layer in the centre).
- Masks must be designed to fit properly, ideally covering at least 50% of the length of the nose and fit to 25mm under the chin.
- A guideline for the adult size of pleated mask designs is 180mm for the width and 160mm for the length (maximum unpeated length).
- Additionally, manufacturers should indicate sizing of masks:

Adults: S/M/L/XL

- The suggested size for the removable filter is 120 x 100 mm.
- The dimension for a simple pleated masks design is illustrated below:
- It is useful to provide markings or features that help the wearer to distinguish between the inner layer and outer layer of the mask in order to prevent wearers from placing the wrong side against their faces.
